

Canadian Metis Council

On October 27, 1998 The Canadian Metis Council received its charter and mandate which were basically just a change of name and territory from the previous Southwestern Metis Council formed December 3, 1995 and incorporated February 7, 1997. Dr. John A. Roberts guided the forming of the Council to promote the well being of Metis People in all of North America by:

- providing educational and training programs for members,
- organizing and supporting provincial and local Metis Councils,
- researching, recording, reporting, and practicing the culture of the Metis People, and
- promoting healthy living patterns among Metis People.

Governed by an executive and advisory council the CMC has grown to over 10,000 members with 50 Community Councils. (Contributed by Martin Carrière.)

References:

- Roberts, John A. Discover Your Metis Ancestry: A Beginners Guide. Toronto: Ontario Genealogical Society, 2008.
- Roberts, John A. First Nations, Inuit, and Métis Peoples : Exploring Their Past, Present, and Future. Toronto: Emond Montgomery Publications, 2006.
- Roberts, John A. with activities by Randy Montgomery and Fred Sproule. First Nations, Inuit, and Métis Peoples. Teacher's Resource [kit] : Exploring Their Past, Present, and Future. Toronto: Emond Montgomery Publications, 2006.
- Williamson, P. and John A. Roberts. First Nations People, 2nd Edition. Toronto: Emond Montgomery Publications, 2004.

Compiled by Lawrence Barkwell
Coordinator of Metis Heritage and History Research
Louis Riel Institute