

Falcon, Pierre Jr., “Tche-mar-nay.” (1820-1892)

Pierre worked as one of the Métis employed with the Palliser Expedition, (1857-60).

Pierre was born on April 12, 1820 at St. Francois Xavier (SFX), the son of Pierre “Che-na-me” Falcon (b. 1793) and Marie Grant. He married Marie Louise Leveille (b. 1826), the daughter of Pierre Leveille and Julie McKenzie on February 3, 1845 at SFX. Their sons, Athanase Falcon (b. 1849) and Gregoire Falcon (b. 1857) were part of the Métis force that rode from the Métis encampment at Turtleford with Joseph Jobin to join Gabriel Dumont’s forces at Batoche in 1885. Their daughter, Balsamine was born July 1, 1846. She married André Lesperance (b. 1835), the son of Alexis Bonami Lesperance and Marguerite Gourneau, on February 12, 1867. She then married Isidore Boucher, the son of Jean Marie Boucher and Catherine Minsey in 1891.

Pierre and Marie Louise Leveille had the following children:

- Balsamie, born July 1, 1846 at SFX, married André Lesperance, then married Isidore Boucher.
